October 23 2013, Kuujuaq, (Québec) - The Kativik Regional Government (KRG) has the pleasure to announce that Jennifer LaPage is the winner of the Team Nunavik-Québec (TNQ) Pin Contest!

The TNQ Pin Contest took place in August of this year and was organized by the KRG Recreation Department. All Nunavik artists were invited to submit their designs for the new pin set for the upcoming 2014 Arctic Winter Games. The design for the 5 part puzzle trading pin with a snowy owl theme for TNQ young athletes had to convey positive energy, eagerness and action as well as capture the essence of a healthy competition.

Out of the entries received participants whose designs best symbolized the spirit of TNQ and matched contest specifications were chosen as winners. KRG wishes to congratulate Jennifer as well as acknowledge Maryse Turcot and Sherryann Jones who placed 2nd and 3rd respectively and recognise the efforts of all those who submitted their entries for the Pin Contest.

Thank you all for your participation, see you at the Games!
